

Department: Human Resources
Section: Employee and Labour Relations

The Annapolis Valley Regional School Board values the participation of volunteers in its schools and encourages participation and partnership in the school community. To promote a positive working relationship between the principal, staff and volunteers in the school, it is essential the role, responsibilities and expectations for volunteers are clearly defined. The Annapolis Valley Regional School Board also believes that, for the protection of students, all volunteers must comply with Board policies and administrative procedures. A key priority is to have volunteers who are competent and enhance the delivery of programs and services to students in a safe environment.
